Gujarat CM launches portal for e-auction of gifts in toshakhana

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA AHMEDABAD, OCTOBER 1

GUJARAT CHIEF Minister Bhupendra Patel on Tuesday launched an e-auction portal for selling gifts received by him and deposited in 'toshakhana' (government treasury).

Now, people living anywhere in the country can buy these 'toshakhana' gift articles from the online portal, https://cmgujmemento.gujarat.gov.in, said an official re-

Earlier, such gifts were sold through public auctions at state-level gatherings and by district collectors through auctions in areas under their jurisdiction, said the release.

Funds collected by selling these gifts will be utilised by the government towards girl child education, said the release, adding it was Prime Minister Narendra Modi who started this practice when he was the Gujarat CM.

The National Institute of Fashion Technology (NIFT) has been roped in for categorywise classification as well as photography of gifts, whose description will be available in detail in English and Gujarati languages, it said.

To purchase gifts through e-auction, the buyer has to first register themselves on the newly launched portal and then submit a bid for them.

The highest bidder will have to make a payment via digital mode to the Girl Child Education Fund after which the purchased item will be delivered to that person by post, added the release

Actor Govinda injured after his licensed gun 'misfires', probe on

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

ACTOR AND former MP Govinda was injured after his licensed revolver accidentally went off at his home in Mumbai early on Tuesday. The actor has been hospitalised and is out of danger, said

Preliminary inquiry showed that Govinda was in a rush to leave for Kolkata for some work at around 5 am when the trigger of his licensed revolver was accidentally pushed while he was keeping it in the cupboard. The gun misfired and a bullet hit his left leg, the actor told the police in his statement, as per the police sources. He was alone at his Juhu bungalow at the time.

The injured actor was admitted to the nearby Criti Care Hospital by his staff. No one lodged any complaint and currently he is undergoing treatment at the hospital, said a senior police officer.

CM Eknath Shinde said he had reached out to Govinda, and

Rupani withdraws defamation case against Cong leaders after apology in court

GOPALKATESHIYA RAJKOT, OCTOBER 1

FORMER CHIEF Minister Viiav Rupani has withdrawn a criminal defamation case he had filed against former Leader of Opposition, Sukhram Rathva, his personal assistant and two MLAs, one of whom is now with the BIP, for accusing that his government had changed zoning of plot of land in Rajkot to favour a private

This comes after the four appeared in court on September 26 and tendered a written unconditional apology.

In February 2022, Rathva, Shailesh Parmar and CJ Chavda held a press conference in Gandhinagar, alleging the Gujarat government approved a change in zonation of 111 acres of land belonging to Sahara India Home Corporation on the outskirts of Rajkot on May 28, 2021, when Rupani was the CM and held the portfolio of urban development department. The three leaders alleged that the zoning of the land was changed from residential to industrial, increasing the price of the land. The Congress leaders had alleged that it was a scam worth Rs 500 crore, adding that it was the reason why Rupani was "removed" from the CM's post.

Parmar was then deputy LoP in Gujarat Assembly while Chavda was chief whip of the Congress.

Rupani had denied the allegations. Rupani, who stepped down as CM in September 2021, had stated that the zoning of the area had been changed to promote industrial development of Rajkot. After the three Congress leaders levelled allegations against Rupani, Ansh Bhardwaj, the former CM's advocate, had served a legal notice to them as well as Rathva's personal assistant Pravin Parmar, seeking public apology. When the Congress leaders didn't respond to the notice, Rupani filed a criminal defamation case in the chief judicial magistrate's court in Gandhinagar on March 22, 2022.

After they didn't respond to repeated summons, the court issued arrest warrants against the three Congress leaders and rejected their pleas for discharge. Eventually, they appeared in court on September 26. "The four tendered a written unconditional apology, stating that they had no evidence to support allegations they had levelled and that the allegations were politically motivated. The former CM accepted the apology and therefore, we gave a pursis to the court to close the case," Bhardwaj told The Indian Express on Tuesday.

While Parmar and Rathva could not be contacted for comment, Chavda said, "We were in the Opposition and made allegations against Rupani based on information provided by others...we could not independently verify facts of the matter. But after we met him, we came to know about the facts and therefore, apologised unconditionally," said Chavda.

Chavda quit Congress earlier this year and joined the BJP. While Parmar managed to retain his Danilimda (SC) Assembly seat in 2022 and continues as deputy leader of the Congress Legislative Party, Rathva lost the elections.

Rupani said that he saw no point in pressing the case after the Congress leaders apologised. "...they apologised in an open court, tending they had no proof to support allegations...The court asked me if the apology was acceptable to me and I said now that they are apologising sincerely, I had no hesitation in accepting it withdrawing case," Rupani told The Indian
